

Sailing at Sea in The Royal Navy

- 1) The Royal Navy are forever sailing around the ocean
Each of the crew after much promotion
Sometimes by no-one to be seen
When deep below based in something called a submarine

- 2) They also sail along in a large boat
Trying carefully to keep it completely afloat
If there was a very strong tide
They couldn't do nothing but hide

- 3) Many a craft goes across the sea
Too far out to be seen by you and me
Lots of different types or so I guess
Even including an Aircraft Carrier yes

- 4) The Royal Navy really help our country out
Make it stay protected from invasion without a doubt
Being very busy at sea on the whole
They are always sailing on patrol

- 5) In some wars they've been very brave
Had this and other countries to save
We'll definitely rely on them forever
And I'm sure them lose their good sea control never
