

125 Years Of Wimbledon Tennis

- 1) Tennis at Wimbledon has now been going for ages
All the great winners appearing on the front pages
Now with lots and lots of cheers
It's been going for 125 long years

- 2) Fred Perry is still the last British men's singles winner
Though we've had many such as Tim Henman and Andy Murray
Proving they're not just a beginner
Someone else British may do it one day
At which we'll all say hip hip hurray

- 3) Virginia Wade was the last British Women's singles winner
At Wimbledon yes
But hopefully one day there'll be another one or so I guess
Marina Navratilova, Billie Jean King and Steffi Graf
Have definitely been 3 of the best
Winning more than many of the rest

- 4) Bjorn Borg, Pete Sampras and Roger Federer
Have been the best of the men
Winning the Wimbledon Trophy time and time again
Broadcast-wise we've had really quite a few
Des Lynam, Sue Barker, John Lloyd and John McEnroe too

- 5) Now with everyone playing in top gear
We'll have to wait and see who are the winners this year
And although we now have one good sheltered court
If it rains Cliff Richard might still sing 'Summer Holiday' just like he ought
