

50 Years Of Coronation Street

- 1) Coronation Street's now been going 50 years
Which brings lots and lots of cheers
Everyone's been watching it for ages
Going through many different stages
- 2) In 1960 Tony Warren first got it going on T.V.
With Ken Barlow one of the first for us to see
It was in black and white until 1969
When in colour it looked even more fine
- 3) The programme's theme tune for us all to very often hear
Was put together by someone called Eric Spear
It's really been going for a long spell
With lots of different characters and tales to tell
- 4) It's had some of the biggest audiences of ever
In 1981 when Ken Barlow and Deidre Longton got together
And in December 1987 when Hilda Ogden left the show
At which she'd had a very good cleaner's go
- 5) Through Coronation Street we've had many a story to learn
Many of them including things happening at the Rovers Return
And we all hope that it continues to do well
Both now and in what the future has to tell
