

50 Years Of Match Of The Day

- 1) MOTD has now been going for 50 years
Bringing lots of football fans both sadness and cheers
With its popularity turning out very well
The different commentators including Barry Davies and John Motson
Have had a lot to tell
- 2) It's now been presented on BBC TV by quite a few
David Coleman, Jimmy Hill, Des Lynam, and Gary Lineker
To be seen by me and you
They've each been on BBC TV with many a different guest
Mark Lawrenson and Alan Hanson appearing quite regularly with no rest
- 3) MOTD has done quite well on the whole
Showing plenty a tremendous goal
Having a big surprise for everyone to face
'Goal of The Month' has every 4 or 5 weeks taken place
- 4) On MOTD drama's to be seen in plenty a game
The Ref showing yellow and red cards time and time again
Often a penalty being given when necessary too
Though rather disagreed with by quite a few
- 5) In the 1990's BBC TV had a live Sunday match to show
Then in the new twenty-first century the ITV and SKY Sports instead gave this a go
But I reckon MOTD will appeal to everyone for ages
Lots of people wanting to watch all the football seasons different stages
