

Sue Barker Is 65

- 1) Sue Barker was born in Devon on the 19th April 1956
Before she got up to all her sport involvement tricks
In the 1970s in lots of tennis she took place
Constantly bringing a smile to her coach's face
- 2) Sue won 15 Women's Tennis Association Tour Single Titles on the whole
Making career-high singles world No. 3 with all her soul
Winning the Grand Slam French Open in 1976 too
And reaching the 1977 Wimbledon semi-final to please quite a few
- 3) It's Sue's 65th birthday today
At which we can all say 'hip hip hurray'
She, following a romance with Cliff Richard, married Lance Tankard in 1988
Who've got on very well with no debate
- 4) Sue's now been a TV Presenter for a while or so I guess
With coverage of Tennis, the Olympics, Commonwealth Games, and The Grand National yes
She also 1994 to 2012 presented 'BBC Sports Personality of the Year' to you and me
Before in 2016 at Buckingham Palace being granted an OBE
- 5) Sue's most recently for a few years hosted 'Question of Sport'
Getting Matt Dawson, Phil Tufnell and all their guests doing just what they ought Overall she's covered oh quite a distance
With BBC sports presentation come of great big assistance
