

Take A Break By Playing Snooker

- 1) Pot black was the first snooker programme on T.V.
To be enjoyably watched by you and me
All the players got busy with their cue
For them to fully entertain quite a few
The snooker players are always busy with their cue and chalk
As round the table having a brisk walk

- 2) Then with the popularity of snooker going fine
Lots of competition was shown on BBC T.V.
Introduced by David Vine
Showing how good everyone was with their snooker cue
By Clive Everton and later John Virgo live commentary was given too
The snooker players are always busy with their cue and chalk
As round the table having a brisk walk

- 3) Steve Davis, Cliff Thorburn and 1 or 2 others took their time
Intending each snooker shot to go absolutely fine
Whilst players like Jimmy White and later Ronnie O'Sullivan
Made all the live spectators shush
When they played each of their shots in a mad rush
The snooker players are always busy with their cue and chalk
As round the table having a brisk walk

- 4) In the game of snooker to get to the max
You need to successfully pot 15 reds and 15 blacks
Then you require to pot the yellow to black
Or if miss just one colour bring your maximum break a big sack
The snooker players are always busy with their cue and chalk
As round the table having a brisk walk

- 5) As at snooker many players are having quite much fun
There's also plenty a Professional Trophy to be won
Some players like Steve Davis and Stephen Hendry
Have been constant winners
Whilst on the whole there's also good beginners
The snooker players are always busy with their cue and chalk
As round the table having a brisk walk
